Family troubles are agitating the denizens of Springerville. Julius Becker has been beating and shooting at his wife, who is now in a critical condition. Full particulars are not obtainable, and there seems to have been no action taken by the authorities. It is claimed that Becker is crazy.

We commend the following from the New York Tribune to the careful consideration of the editor of the Orion Era. It seems to be the naked truth: "An Iowa man has been sent to jail for appearing in the streets without attire. He was not even clothed in his right mind, for he said his mission on earth was to preach the return of the Adamic era. Of all distressing cranks, the religious crank is the most completely hopeless."

A Liquidized Brain.—* * * there cannot be a legal conviction of any mormon in Arizona for the simple reason that no mormon has ever committed that offense in Arizona, as no member of that church has ever contracted a marriage in Arizona violative of any act of Congress. This may seem strange to some who may have been led to think otherwise, but it is absolutely and unequivocally true, and we respectfully challenge any proof, whatever, to the contrary.—[Bishop Milner's Era.]

The gall displayed by the venerable sire of the above willful lie, is only excusable from the fact he is not in his right mind. The cause of his imbecility was probably contracted in Provo, Utah, where he had four wives, and the onerous duties imposed on him by his quartette of helpmeets has liquidized his brain. This nincompoop sets himself up as authority on law, of more importance, and more profound than the Supreme court of our Territory, and pretends to say that a conviction cannot be legally had in Arizona for polygamy. Everybody who is intelligent enough to read knows that there are three of these sacrilegious scoundrels now doing duty in the House of Correction, at Detroit, Michigan, convicted of polygamy, yet this polygamous crank says it cannot be legally done. Illegal convictions are usually righted by the Supreme courts, but in the polygamy cases the Supreme court differs with Bishop Milner and the "brothers" still languish. Although Bishop Milner says he is "at home in the Supreme court of the United States" we are led to believe that he never is at home, when he makes such wild statements as the above. The deluded saint further says that no mormon ever committed a polygamous marriage in Arizona. Why? Simply because there are no "grease vats" in Arizona, or assignment house. The way it is done is this: A licentious mormon buck concludes he wants another wife, he hunts out a girl, lodes her in a wagon and they go to St. George, Utah. There they go through the assignment house, don their endowment robes and return. This is the plan that was followed by brothers Udell, Christofferson, Taylor, and Pete Skousen jr., the latter taking two on one trip. The crank in penning the lies above referred to is only following the precepts and teachings of his church.

General Sedgwick, land commissioner of the Atlantic & Pacific, on his trip to Prescott, Arizona, secured patents for 133,500 acres of land. This is part of the million acre land sale recently made by the Atlantic & Pacific to the Artee Cattle Company.—[Albuquerque Journal.]

We would suggest that our Assessor look this matter up, and should he find that patents have issued to said land, it becomes taxable and it is the assessor's duty to assess it. This land would be assessed at least $1 per acre, this would make $133,500, which would bring into the county, at 2½ per cent., $3,337.50.

For Variety's Sake.—We would like somebody to tell the truth, for a little while, about the Mormons, just for variety's sake, if for no other reason.—[Milner's Orion Era.]

—We can't understand the necessity of telling anything but the truth about them, as that will show their nefarious and beastly habits clear enough. From the promiscuous manner that Bishop Milner uses the word "truth" we infer that he is not acquainted with its definition.

Off for Australia.—Where are you going? I am going to the newly discovered gold fields of Australia but before I leave I will purchase a seasons provisions from the mercantile establishment of H. F. Banta, where you can purchase more for your money than at any other store in St. Johns. If you don't believe it call on him; plank down your cash and take home some of those fine groceries received this week.

Fire at Ash Fork.—A disastrous fire on Saturday last nearly destroyed the town of Ash Fork. The loss is estimated at $20,000 with little insurance. Among the heaviest losers are: A. G. Oliver, R. P. Furrows, Ah Joe, Coleman's Hotel, and S. F. Shannon. Ash Fork, like most of the towns on the A. & P. railroad, is without a supply of water, that which is used being brought in tank cars from Peach Springs and sold by the railroad company.

Bishop Milner wants to know who Elder Affleck is. Elder Affleck is an elder in the mormon church, in Salt Lake, and the priesthood meeting in which he made the remarks referred to in last week's HERALD, was held in Salt Lake City on April 16th. The HERALD is posted on Elders and Bishops, and can furnish the editor (?) of the Era with J. B. Milner's history while a resident of Provo, Utah.

Tithing Office.—The erection of the new brick Tithing Office at St. Johns is progressing nicely. The building when completed will be an ornament to the town.—[Elder Milner's Orion Era.]

—Yes, an ornament so far as looks, but a disgrace to civilization.

The new schedule for the mail route from Navajo to Springerville has come and will go into effect the first of the month. This gives us our mail 12 hours earlier than the old schedule.

Albuquerque papers speak of a rush of immigrants over the A. & P. railroad bound for Southern California.

Connily Lines.—By reference to the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors it will be seen that Apache county is moving in the matter of having the boundary line between that and Graham established by official survey. It is important that it should be done, in order to settle the question of jurisdiction, and also to enable the assessor of the respective counties to make their assessments advisably. The act to create Graham county out of the counties of Pima and Apache leaves its northern boundary in doubt, the language being used as follows: "Thence north on said meridian (110° west longitude) to Black river, thence along said Black river to its head; thence due east to the line of New Mexico." The Board of the county desire to know what the Supervisors of Apache county consider to have been intended in the act by the head of Black river. It has been decided by the Supreme Court of Kentucky, 1st Bibb, p. 75, that "the head of a creek or a river will be taken to mean the head of its longest branch, unless there be forcible evidence of common reputation to the contrary." If the foregoing decision is adopted as the law defining the headwaters of Black river, then the head of that stream is at or near Reservoir lake, in White mountains, and a line run due east to the line of New Mexico, in the language of the Statute, would place Bush valley in Graham county.—[Clifton Clarion.]

—The Kentucky decision will not apply in this case. The general understanding in Apache county and especially among the old settlers, and also the settlers who now live at or near its head, is that the head of Black river is at a point just south of what is known as Elk Horn, or Horton's ranch, a voting precinct of Apache county. At this point the several branches that form Black river meet at the head of long box canyon, and at this confluence is the actual head of the river. A line due east to New Mexico would leave Bush valley from 12 to 15 miles north of Apache's south line.
